Committee on Union Picnic Meet-
Ladies' Aid Holds Outing—Personals.

The meeting of the representatives of the churches, to decide on the date of the annual picnic to be held this year, was held Wednesday evening in the Greenville Congregational church. There were representatives from the Greenville Congregational church, Federated St. Andrew's and the Swedish church present. Willis Hill, the chairman of the general committee, presided. It was decided to hold the picnic at Atlantic Beach, July 29. The picnic will be a union picnic and will include the above churches mentioned. The Norwich Town Methodist will possibly join the others. Chairman Hill appointed a committee of one to look after the transportation. A. P. MacDougal is treasurer of the committee. A large outing is looked for and the committee have arranged an extensive program.

Optical Association Convention.

The national convention of the American Optical association will be held in Providence, R. I., July 15 to 22, and from all accounts it will be the biggest affair of the kind ever held. Delegates from every state of the union and from Canada will be in attendance. Optometrists who are members will be allowed at most of the sessions.

Ladies' Aid Have Outing.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Greenville Congregational church held an outing at Ocean beach Wednesday instead of their regular monthly meeting. About 25 members of the society left early in the morning by trolley and auto for the beach. At noon a basket lunch was served on the beach. Many enjoyed the bathing in the cool ocean. The party returned late in the afternoon after a successful outing at the seaside away from the heat of the city.

Choir to Have Outing at Drawbridge.

The choir of the Greenville Congregational church will hold an outing at the Drawbridge drawbridge Saturday. The trip will be made by automobile. An elaborate program has been arranged for the committee in charge. Walter McNulty is the chairman of the committee.

TWO HUNDRE OFF FOR WEBSTER

Local Chamber Couldn't Supply Demand for Reservations for Eastern Connecticut Pow Wow—New London County Has Hopes of Winning That Baseball Cup—A Hundred Autos to Take the Nipmuck Trail.

Approximately 200 prominent citizens and leading business men of Norwich will go to Webster lake this morning for the annual outing of the Eastern Connecticut Pow Wow. The committee. "We are all ready and waiting said one of the committee men on Wednesday night. We're going to show Webster, he continued, that Eastern Connecticut is about the liveliest spot on the face of the earth. Look at the way we have got to get on this outing! Why, we've men from all sections of Eastern Connecticut have echoed the call and another hundred is clamoring for tickets tonight. And we can't give them tickets for every last one of our allotment is either taken or spoken for. We did get fifteen from Putnam this afternoon but they weren't all gobbled up in no time. Yes, this is the biggest outing ever held by the Eastern Connecticut Development Committee. We'll have the honor of holding the first automobile parade to go the whole length of Eastern Connecticut. About that baseball cup. The New London County team is being prepared to cop the championship and they will bring back the cup with them."

The Norwich autos, 50 or more in number will form in line on Washington street at 8 o'clock this morning. It had been planned to have the machines line up behind the first automobile parade to go the whole length of Eastern Connecticut. About that baseball cup. The New London County team is being prepared to cop the championship and they will bring back the cup with them."

A Word About the Lake.

From Boston the Great Trail of the Indians would carry the traveler to the big lake. At each Indian village there would be clear and refreshing waters. Southward to the Nipmuck Trail led to the free waters of the Thames (now Norwich) where either by river or trail the route led to New London. Along the way from New London to New York every inlet early in history would harbor some daring settler.

It is said this was the path of the French refugees to New Rochelle and New York after the Indian massacre at Oxford in 1696.

The lake, like so much else of the past, was submerged to the service of the young nation. The lake was scattered about the new town of Webster. For the purposes of protection much of the lands about the lake are owned by the State.

The Great Meeting Place.

The lake, nevertheless, persisted in its heritage as the Great Meeting Place. Old inhabitants remember the place where the Indians gathered for the rendezvous of the apertures of Boston and Providence, and wrinkled faces today light with joy as they recall the days when the Indians gathered like the lake, and six and eight-oared sculling races by the old Comets and the lake were factors in many an exciting day.

The lake is not today the great meeting ground it might be, but its beauty and scenery are still as clear and sparkling, and well stocked with fish, canoes of the white man float about where once the Indians gathered. The lake is now a beautiful and a thousand waters every warm Sunday flock to the sandy shores using the winds for the robbing the lake. The old days are coming back.

The great Iron Trails today lead to the lake from all directions as in the old days, for the forest trails yielded to its lure.

RECOLLECTIONS OF DR. W. P. BOLLES.

Former Eastern Connecticut Man Deeply Interested in the Higher Education.

It is interesting to note that the late Dr. William P. Bolles who bequeathed his telescope, microscope and library books to the Connecticut College for Women is an Eastern Connecticut man.

The following memorial to Dr. William P. Bolles was read to a meeting of the Alumni Association of the college at its annual meeting in 1915.

Dr. Bolles was graduated from the surgical side of the Boston City hospital in May, 1871, and the following year he was graduated from the Harvard Medical school. Soon after his graduation he was appointed to the staff of the Boston City hospital and in several positions until his death.

His professional interests were chiefly surgical, yet after the custom of his time he was deeply interested in the general medical practice. Even after his retirement from active practice many of his devoted patients referred to him as "Doc."

He was a devoted member of the club from the time of his election in 1872 until his death, which occurred on March 18, 1914.

Dr. Bolles was a most thoughtful of the after-treatment and the ultimate good of his patients. His skill as a surgeon was due to an unusual capacity for taking pains, the extraordinary definiteness of his hands and the fertility and accuracy of his mind.

During his life he was a most active years he contributed many articles to medical literature; he invented a fracture box, a salt solution bottle, for irrigation, and a portable sterilizer, which were very useful when operations were performed in private houses.

Dr. Bolles had a passion for acquiring knowledge and a great uncertainty in many subjects. He was a skillful botanist, and in the few weeks he spent in Santa Barbara, just before his death, he collected over 40 plants. At the time of his retirement from the professorship of medical botany and botany at Massachusetts College of Pharmacy he gave his collection of over 2,500 botanical specimens to the college.

He was an expert craftsman, and made beautiful articles in silver, copper and wood, many of which he gave to his friends. He believed everyone should have an avocation, and often cautioned his young friends about the danger of growing old without one.

But, last and greatest, was his unvarying kindness. He was a staunch and loyal friend, and a great success in many subjects. He was a joyful having his friends about him. He was never too busy or hurried to give his helpful thought to others, and to assist them with their problems. A most delightful companion, whom one never left without feeling better for his instructive, entertaining, and often deliciously humorous conversation. Dr. Bolles was a courtly gentleman, always thoughtful of the feelings of others and he believed the best way to help a friend was to place him in the hands of another, but he can never be supplanted in the hearts of his fellow men.

Some Boyhood Incidents.

In addition to this some incidents of his boyhood in New London were interesting not alone those who remember him personally, but the many who otherwise might know him only by name.

His father, a literary man and the compiler of several volumes, was for some years a bookseller and publisher in New London. His sons, William and Eugene, passed their boyhood years in the Bolles homestead on the Norwich road. Their farm adjoined the present college site on the south, having the same magnificent view of the harbor and sound. It

To Put On Flesh And Increase Weight

Most people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce while on the other hand many of the plump chunky gentles eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It is all a matter of the nature of the food they eat. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Most thin people stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a shade "fatter" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just pass through the body as waste. What such people need is something that will make the body's food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—and doing good, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition it is well to recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is simply a natural chemical. It is absolutely harmless, yet has been wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often, according to reports of users, has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by H. M. Lerou, Norwich, Chesbro's Drug Store, Willimantic, and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Your Bowls Should Move Once a Day. A free easy movement of the bowels every day is a sign of good health. Dr. King's New Life Pills will give you gentle laxative effect without griping and free your system of blood poisons, purify your blood, overcome constipation and have an excellent tonic effect on the entire system. Makes you feel like living. Only 25c. at druggists.

position with G. G. Grant on his milk route.

Ludwig Kromholz is visiting with friends in Providence for a short time.

Mrs. Albert Lafleur and Miss Annie Lafleur are at Block Island for a few weeks.

Mrs. Marian Dougherty of Merchants avenue is spending several weeks at Block Island.

Peter Lafleur and family are visiting with relatives in Willimantic for a short time.

Ovide Paradis of Hunters avenue left the first of the week for a short stay with friends in Canada.

Extensive repairs are being made on the Lumber block on Hunters avenue. A new cement stairway has been laid at the entrance to the block.

The Sunday school picnic of the Taftville Congregational church has been postponed indefinitely owing to the epidemic of influenza, which is so prevalent just now.

BLOTCHES BURNED TERRIBLY ON FACE

Rubbed and Made Itching More Painful. Constantly Irritated. Face Was Badly Disfigured.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My skin trouble began six months ago. At that time I had only a few pimples on my face and forehead. They were in blotches on my face and they itched and burned terribly and at times I rubbed my face but this made the itching more painful. The pimples on my forehead were disfiguring and they were constantly irritated. For two months my face was badly disfigured."

"I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it I bought a cake of Soap and a box of Ointment. In less than two months after I used two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) David H. Schuminsky, 17 Bedford St., Hartford, Conn., Oct. 29, '15.
